

Cancer Of the Face.

Mrs. Laura E. Mims, of Dawson, Ga., says: "A small pimple of a strawberry color appeared on my cheek; it soon began to grow rapidly, notwithstanding all efforts to check it. My eye became terribly inflamed, and was so swollen that for quite a while I could not see. The doctors said I had Cancer of the most malignant type, and after exhausting their efforts without doing me any good, they gave up the case as hopeless. When informed that my father had died from the same disease, they said I must die, as hereditary Cancer was incurable."

"At this crisis, I was advised to try S.S.S., and in a short while the Cancer began to discharge and continued to do so for three months, then it began to heal. I continued the medicine a while longer until the Cancer disappeared entirely. This was several years ago and there has been no return of the disease."

A Loving Cup.
Mrs. Potter, Palmer, president of the women's world's fair board, has presented a beautiful loving cup to Mrs. Joseph Thompson, president of the woman's board of the Atlanta exposition. The bond of mutual sympathy between these women in their great endeavors was strong to begin with, and was upon acquaintance made sure by personal understanding and accord. The loving cup will always recall to Mrs. Thompson the visit of the beautiful great lady of the west to the Atlanta exposition, while others looking upon it will remember happily the evening of the grand ovation given in her honor by Mrs. Thompson when the two women stood side by side, each receiving in her own individual fashion amid brilliant lights and flowers. The loving cup is simple and elegant. The design is a Venus riding on a dolphin and the work is exquisitely chaste and artistic.

Brought Good Prices.

Relics of Louis XVI brought good prices at Rouen lately. They belonged to the descendants of Clery, the king's valet de chambre, who was confined in the temple with his master. A cambric shirt worn by the king the day before his death, with an ink stain on the wristband, brought, $570; the napkin used at the mass on the morning of the execution, $390; Louis' nightcap, $140; a key made by him, $104; the coat worn by the dauphin in prison, fetched $410; his waistcoat, $309; a knife with a plain bone handle belonging to Marie Antoinette, $174; a tress of the queen's hair, $180; locks of Louis and of the dauphin, $150 each, one of the princess de Lamballe, $40, and Mme. Elizabeth's head dress, $196. Clery's diary brought $270, and his portrait $280.

Some people are so full of schemes that their neighbors dread to meet them.

THE DUTY OF PATRIOTS.

Constant and Hard Work Needed to Overthrow Political Bosses.

To overthrow the bosses and their methods, to establish in place of the law and narrow road to political distinction a high and broad one, all men who love their country must go into politics, into the primaries and nominating conventions, and insist upon their right to select the candidates. It said by some in excuse of the present indifferently character of candidates for legislative and other offices, that first-rate men will not consent to accept nomination; but experience has shown that this is a mistake. It is very seldom that much trouble is found in inducing men of character to stand for public office, provided they can be assured that they will be faithfully supported, and will have to make no compromising pledges in return for the nomination. Politics can be purified if the people will insist upon the purification. The trouble is that while the politicians work every day of the year to keep politics down to their level, their opponents work only spasmodically, usually a few weeks before election, and during the remainder of the year diametrically the subject from their minds.

It requires great fervor of patriotism to carry on this work, but he must be a very poor American who is willing to admit that there is not enough of saving grace in our people to produce a sufficient body of men to accomplish it. The kind of patriotism required is of the highest order. It must be willing to give time and labor and money, to sacrifice the best that a man has on the altar of his country. It is undoubtedly more prosaic than dying for one's country on the field of battle, but the man who devotes his life to preserving the honor of his country and perpetuating free government is as much a hero as the one who falls upon the field of battle. Happily there is no demand for him to prove his patriotism in war, while there is a great and pressing demand for him to prove it in the peaceful duties of citizenship.

He is not the truest or most useful patriot who boasts of his willingness to fight for his country in a war which may never come or ought never to come, but he who gives his services in a struggle that is already in progress. What our country is in need of to-day is an army of patriots who will enlist for the extermination of an army of political pirates and freebooters who are slowly but surely flitting from us all "that made it the best to live in and the easiest to die for." We need recruits in every town and village and great city, men who will not give up the fight till the victory is won. This is a patriotism which tries men's souls for it calls for quiet, self-sacrificing unremitting labor; but it is the only patriotism which will save American institutions from destruction, and make the American name, as the symbol of human progress, honored throughout the world. "Patriotism That Counts" is the Century.

Not Fanny to Them.

Recently as a young couple stepped aboard the train to start for their honeymoon a long box of flowers was handed to them. It bore the name of a well-known florist on the cover and was daintily tied up with white satin ribbons. They looked at each other in the box. The white bows made it too evidently a wedding favor; and had they not feared to hurt the feelings of some tactless friend by refusing the gift they would not have taken the box into the car. However, they did take it. Presently the bride decided that it would be better to take the flowers from the box and wear them. Then the pretty little bride, trying hard not to look conscious, held the big box in her lap and untied the silken fastenings. As she undid the last bow the cover jumped off with a report loud enough to attract the attention of the whole Pullman, and out from a bed of flowers sprang a rosy-cheeked cupid, stretching his bow ready for a shot. It was a species of jumping-jack. To the passengers on the car the joke seemed funny, but the poor little bride broke down in a storm of hysterical tears. —New York Journal.

A Pony Colonel.

Bragg used to call Joseph Wheeler his "Pony Colonel." Referring to the battle of Shiloh, Col. Geo. G. Garner, Bragg's adjutant general, said: "When Prentiss and Wallace's division were pressing upon and driving back Chalmers' brigade, Bragg, Hardee and Beauregard were on an elevation and saw the advance of the federal line. They thought it was a desperate attempt of the federal army to pierce our center, and when they saw Chalmers yielding to this large force, were necessarily much alarmed, but when they saw Wheeler mount and check the advance, their anxiety was turned to joy, and Gen. Bragg was so pleased that he raised up and down in his stirrups, saying: 'It is my pony colonel, it is my pony colonel.'"

Wonders never cease. The physicians of Dallas are dumbfounded and non-plussed. The cures performed by Veno's Remedies are marvellous, extraordinary and increasing every day. Cripples lay down their crutches and walk. Catarrhal sufferers, weak, nervous, dyspeptic, rheumatic and paralytic find almost instant relief, which is the most remarkable thing about the medicines. In fact, some of the cures performed by Veno's Remedies, which are vouchsafed by some of the best people in town, are unexplainable. The medicines lack magical effect, as if nature herself was the controlling power. The following sworn statement is self-explanatory:

State of Texas, County of Dallas, ss. I, Charles M. Connelly, do hereby certify that the following is a true and correct statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding the cure of the above named person by Veno's Remedies. I have been a sufferer from sciatic rheumatism for four years, and during the last five weeks have been in constant pain, day and night, and during that five weeks I have not been able to get up, but got no relief. On November 1st I was treated by Dr. Veno with his Electric Fluid and Curative Syrup. The first application of the fluid took my pains away entirely and I have had no pain since. I feel better and healthier in every way and feel that I am completely cured. I work and have thrown away my cane because I have no further use for them.
